MY STORY

From shadowing my mom in the kitchen as a young child to dining out in hole-in-the walls and fancy restaurants alike, I've always been passionate about all things food: the history / cultural significance, a chef's story, the unique flavors, and the presentation equally excite me and indulging in such experiences in my travels continue to teach me new things. Having grown up in San Francisco / Bay Area, I've been exposed to food technology over the years and so it's been an exciting adventure to experience dining from both a traditional customer and a technologist's lens.
